THE SOUDAN CAMPAIGN.

AN IMPENDING ATTACK.

LONDON, March 14.

News from the Soudan states that the Dervishes under Osman Digna, the Khalifa's lieutenant, are within 10 miles of the Atbara River, where Major-General Sir H. Kitchener has 14,000 men under his command. An attack is impending.

According to the latest English news to hand, preparations were on the point of completion for the despatch of an exceptionally strong expedition to the valley of the Upper Nile. The force will be under command of General Sir H. Kitchener, the explorer, who has only just received from a remarkable journey round the west of Lake Rudolf, in the course of which he was within a short distance of Fashoda. Mr. Cavendish will take nine or ten days to complete his tour, including a number of minor expeditions, and the party will be borne by Mr. Cavendish. It will be very strongly equipped against possible attack, and will be furnished with a number of quick-firing guns. Besides the European expedition will consist of at least 10,000 men. The Association will meet with all possible ceremony direct for the Upper Nile by route with which several members of the party are thoroughly acquainted. It is confidently expected that the expedition will be in the valley of the Upper Nile within the next three months, and the time of its arrival from Europe is not far off.

The objective of the expedition is the junction of the Sobat with the White Nile. Before the Royal Geographical Society on January 21, Mr. H. S. H. Cavendish read a paper on his journey "Through Somaliland and Around and South of Lake Rudolf." He described some exciting encounters with elephants, and said he had discovered coal in large quantities.

THE TRANSVAAL.

THE DISMISSAL OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE.

LONDON, March 14.

The Crown law officers have recently had under discussion the question as to whether the Government workmen should be allowed to strike during the operation of the Factories Act. The Attorney-General has given his opinion in the affirmative.

The Mary River, at Maryborough, is now normal.

The steering lights will again be exhibited to-morrow night, and the river marks and buoys will be set up as usual.

An examination of the Reichenbach River at State shows that some sailing occurred on the river bar cutting. As the result of the recent flood several sharp ridges were formed, reducing the depth to 16ft. at low spring tides, but these will be quenched by the tide.

The Free Importers' Association to-day passed resolutions to the effect that the Minister for Agriculture should arrange with the other colonies to have all fruit inspected before shipment, and that certificates accompanying the fruit should be held to determine the quality of the fruit.

Mr. O'Connor agreed that the importers should have the right to return fruit to the place of consignment, or to clear it at the port where it is received.

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

A young man named William Lawson, aged 19, a visitor from Bourke, New South Wales, was feeding a horse when the animal lashed back and bit him in the face, fracturing his jaw and laying open his forehead.

At the Fitzroy Police Court to-day three young men, of the larrikin type, were dealt with on a charge of brutal assault. One was fined $10, and 100 costs; the others three months; the others were fined each $5.

The will of the late Commander Pascoe, R.N., was laid to-day for probate. The estate is valued at £1200.

The Melbourne Cricket Club honoured Stoddart's team to-day. Lord Strathcona was present. Dr. David Hanmer, Dr. H. C. Morris, and Mr. John McLean were made life-members of the Melbourne Cricket Club, and the professionals were presented with £25 each.

CENTRAL LICENSING COURT.

LONDON, March 14.

The Central Licensing Court yesterday, Mr. G. W. Addis, M.A., presiding, granted transfers of public houses to Mr. J. H. Morris plans sent from the city surveyor's office to the Lands Titles Office being rejected through inaccuracy.

Witness: Yes. The Flemington Surveyors' plan, showing 40 acres.

What was that error?

Witness: They were incorrect.

What was it made to make a survey?

Witness: Yes, I made a survey after that.

Why was the first rejected?

Witness: In that case the plan was incorrect. Then it was agreed with Mr. Richards, he is not a licensed surveyor, and according to the Act, the plan must be rejected by a licensed surveyor.

Mr. Gordon: The assistant city surveyor, what would have been done?

Witness: You would have had to have got a copy of the survey.

Mr. Gordon: And then you would have to go to the Surveyor-General.

Alderman Norton: A nice state of things for a corporation like Sydney. Our chief surveyor is not qualified to plan.

Alderman Harris: What time do you come to the office?

Witness: 9 o'clock, a rule.

What time does he leave?

Witness: 4 o'clock, or perhaps later.

Before this inquiry what used your chief to come to the office?

Witness: I cannot say. I am at top of the building and he is on the ground floor.

When you had business with him in the afternoon was it in his office?

Witness: It was a good deal out of his office, of course, naturally.

He is far other than that in, is he not? But I don't understand what question of yours. Did you do some work with him, connected with the blocking of Newstead-road for the Newstead Council in the City Council's time?

Witness: I did not work out there.

How long were you employed?

Witness: Two half days, as near as I can recollect.

Did you not get any of the £50?

Witness: No; I got no fees.

Alderman Joseph: Not for any outside work gone into by the city surveyor?

Alderman Waine: Do you see by this document that in 1885 City Surveyor's Mountain-side against the rest of the Corporation of the County of Bathurst, being sued out until it was dedicated to us, and yet within two years the work was carried out?

Witness: It appears so.

What did you survey of Moore Park?

Alderman Waine: I found that the Government claimed 25 acres, which they had no right to, and also that there was another block of land which had been occupied for many years, and which the council owned.

What did you do?

Witness: I reported the whole matter to my chief. You do not know what was done with the report?

Mr. Joseph: Nothing, nothing with him.

Do I understand that nothing was done with the survey?

Witness: That was what I was led to infer. They were compensated for over two years.

Alderman Joseph: The council was never apprised of them.

Alderman Waine: Oh, no, I know that. How did you come to find the matter out?

Witness: I went into the survey very thoroughly and systematically, and I found that the surveyor had laid the fables (heavens). Do you know if the gentleman who was in charge of the land at the time was compelled to give up the compensation to the council asking if the council would it?

Witness: Subsequently to my report he did.

If an officer came to say that the first instance of a surveyor had given him nothing to do, he would never have passed out of its possession was the letter from the board who were purporting to be the surveyor.

Witness: Most emphatically not. My report was written two years before the letter was received.

Alderman Harris: Then your work in that respect has been valued?

The Mayor: As far as I got information of the matter, a agent of the council and gave him nothing to do. He asked what notice I would give him. I told him never notice, not a bad longer; he had never been in possession of the land quite long enough.

Alderman J. Harris: That makes the matter worse. Action was never taken till the attention of the matter was brought to the council and gave him nothing to do.

Alderman Norton: Will Alderman Ives tell us how the matter was brought out in the court of the surveyor's office to the minister?

Witness: The Government is trying to find out something to give it a better record. That is all.

Alderman Waine: The Government cannot do that. It did try to do it, but did not succeed. At an interview between Government representatives, the late Mayor, the assistant town clerk, and the surveyor, we thought some goes into, and the Government admitted that the land belonged to the council. It is half of the old rifle range, measuring 53 chains by 100 rods.

The Government was trying to get this land, and brought press to bear, saying for it to be given to the Park, and other reserves upon which we had spent our money?

Witness: Exactly. The Government was using your property as a lever to get more of your own.

Alderman Norton: That winds it up in a nutshell.

Alderman Waine: What had we to do in re-blocking Oxford-street?

Witness: The Railway Commissioners, when they related the rate, raised the cost of the blocks from Liverpool-street, London, to Liverpool-street, street to Downing-street, costing £182 extra in a £400 contract.

There was a strong opinion that the Railway Commissioners should pay that money?

Witness: Most emphatically. We should not have paid it.

Alderman J. Chapman (witness): You have never recommended any work being carried out on in Beale Park, while you were acting city surveyor?

Witness: I did not order anything to be done to the jetty you?

Witness: Yes, but the jetty is at the end of Downing-street, it has nothing to do with the park.

Witness: About October, 1894. It is included in the account of the works from Liverpool-street to Downing-street.

Witness: Did you make the report?

Witness: I got instructions from the town clerk. It is extraordinary that a subordinate officer is not allowed to make a report, and it does not come from the city surveyor.

Witness: If you took at the report you will find that it is not in my name, but at all times I have done the town clerk's work.

Alderman Norton: We have been spending money here since 1886 when we had no right to do so. Do you take the Moonee-street improvement for that work?

Witness: I do not take any credit to myself. I have simply done it as a duty of duty in connection with other matters. That is all.

In answer to Alderman Joseph, witness said he had remonstrated the city surveyor being called upon to obtain certain information from Adelaide, Melbourne, and St. Peter's Church, Melbourne. He informed the organ of the Church with Two Towers in Paris was the one organ which approached the Sydney organ. He said that the man who played the organ in America received £300. Mr. Best said that the man who played the organ deserved a salary of £1000. The organist was not a professional, and the committee could not recommend that the organ should be retained to him. The question was submitted to him as Mayor of the city, and he recommended that the organ be retained to the organist.

Witness: The Government is trying to get this land, and brought press to bear, saying for it to be given to the Park, and other reserves upon which we had spent our money?

Witness: Most emphatically not. My report was written two years before the letter was received.

Alderman J. Chapman (witness): You have never recommended any work being carried out on in Beale Park, while you were acting city surveyor?

Witness: I did not order anything to be done to the jetty you?

Witness: Yes, but the jetty is at the end of Downing-street, it has nothing to do with the park.

Witness: About October, 1894. It is included in the account of the works from Liverpool-street to Downing-street.

Witness: Did you make the report?

Witness: I got instructions from the town clerk. It is extraordinary that a subordinate officer is not allowed to make a report, and it does not come from the city surveyor.

Witness: I do not know about it.

Witness: I do not know what is the difference with Cleveland-street?

Witness: In Cleveland-street and other parts of Downing-street, the boundary is described as going along the centre of the road.

Witness: I do not know if the argument does not apply here?

Witness: Assuredly not.
